Elks and OORP celebrate third decade of service

Three decades of community service and work toward common goals was celebrated by Elk Point's BPO Elks and Order of Royal Purple lodges last Saturday evening at a banquet and program well attended by present and past members and special guests.

Elks Exalted Ruler Brian Schnurer welcomed the crowd to the "prestigious milestone event," and attributed the "remarkable feat" to the leadership and guidance of the Exalted Rulers and Honored Royal Ladies over the years and to the hard work of the members of both lodges. Schnurer said Elk Point is among the top 10 Elks Lodges in Canada, which is "an achievement to be proud of. Helping people (with the programs in which the Lodge is involved) makes it all worthwhile."

Honored Royal Lady Mary Kryvenchuk called it "an exciting era" in which to be involved in the lodges, with Elks across Canada celebrating 75 years in 1988-89, and OORP celebrating 75 years in 1989-90. She said the OORP did not achieve their goals alone, "the Elks are the backbone of our success." She thanked the charter members for their efforts in starting the lodge, and the newer members "for strengthening our roots." To all, she said "Thank you for caring and sharing."

Master of Ceremonies George Dikeman read messages of greeting from MLA John Dro-

bot, MP Deborah Grey, Supreme Honored Royal Lady Joyce Hall, Grand Exalted Ruler Jack Blinston, and Past District Deputy Vivian Geres, all who were unable to attend, but who wished the lodges the best on their special anniversary.

District Deputy Bill Schuhmacher said Elk Point is part of a district well known for long service. Vermilion BPOE has been in existence for 65 years, Lloydminster for 64, Marwayne, 45, Mannville, 35 and Myrnam, 39 years. In a community where the demands on volunteers are very high and efforts are at a maximum, the Elks help out in many ways, including providing the Elks van, the Kehewin Lake campground, a $1000 school award and many, many donations throughout the year. They also help with provincial and national Elks projects such as the Institute of Stuttering Treatment and the Purple Cross, both of which have helped local youngsters as well as others across the province and the nation. Schuhmacher said the Elks enjoy good support from the people in the town and area, and thanked Mayor Kleeberger and his council for their support. He made special mention of Elks member Ron Barwick, who at 91 years of age has been a charter member of both the Vermilion and Elk Point lodges.

Participaction '91 Do-It Yourself Style Fitness

Are you set to participate? Tomorrow is Participaction Challenge Day across Canada, when each and every Canadian is urged to take part in 15 minutes of physical activity, and then to phone their local recreation office and register the fact.

In Elk Point this year, we haven't planned any special events. That leaves it up to YOU to do as you like—run, walk, ride your bike, garden, mow the lawn, scrub floors, clean windows, lift weights, play baseball or climb stairs. As long as your activity takes 15 minutes, you can call in and tell the Community Services Department that you have taken part in Participaction.

Steven Montgomery and his crew will be manning the phones at 724-3800 until 8:00 p.m. tomorrow, May 29, to take your call.

Why not call up a group of friends and do something together—play golf, walk the Rec Land trails, go to the lake for a swim—the possibilities are endless. Just be sure to PARTICIPATE!

Sixty Five Years Of Elks Lodge Membership

Ron Barwick holds the special distinction of being a charter member of both the Elk Point BPOE Lodge, which celebrated its 30th Anniversary Saturday night, and the Vermilion BPOE, which was inaugurated 65 years ago. The 91-year-old, who is the oldest active Elks Lodge member in Canada, receives his 30 year pin from Exalted Ruler Brian Schnurer and District Deputy Bill Schuhmacher.

Auto show - antiques and artistry

Cars and trucks ranging from a 1903 museum piece to a 1986 example of artwork on wheels filled the A. G. Ross Arena Saturday afternoon, as the Elk Point Auto Club held their fourth annual Show and Shine.

Music from the appropriate eras helped to waft show goers back in time as they viewed the displays, peering at high powered engines, admiring fancy paintwork, and reminiscing about the days when today's antiques and near-antiques were everyone's day-to-day transportation.

Each visitor to the show was given a ballot, and invited to vote for their favorites. The ballots were counted at the end of the day, and winners were presented with the array of trophies.

In the Antique category, Art Southworth's gleaming black and gold 1962 Rolls Royce Silver Cloud took home the Dan's Auto Body first place trophy. Steve Andrishak, who also received the Auto Club's silver cup for the Oldest Vehicle, placed second for the Mystery Man trophy with his 1903 Ford, while Larry Demchuk's perennial favorite 1933 Ford placed third for the Auto Club trophy.

Ken and Holly Astill's unique 1975 Bricklin, now recovered from its unfortunate 1990 Canada Day encounter with a spooked team of horses, placed first in the Show category to win a trophy from Woody's Trophy and Gifts. Ron Urlacher of Grand Centre placed second with his black 1969 Mustang to win a trophy donated by Harold Lefebvre Construction, while Adrian Ewasiuk placed third for the Wilter Automotive trophy with his 1968 Firebird.

Bob Smook of Lloydminster led the Convertible class with his red 1966 Thunderbird, taking home the Elk Point Insurance trophy. The Scavenger Auto Salvage trophy from Glendon went to second placing Tom Skjornsberg of Fort McMurray, whose turquoise '68 Chrysler also won the Empress Restaurant trophy for the entry from furthest away. Doug Hill of Vegreville placed third with his white '65 Chevy, for the Auto Club trophy.

Albert Lesnyk of Mundare won first prize in the Truck category, with a nicely restored 1956 Ford, taking the Quality Tools and Equipment trophy. Tedd Bateman of Bonnyville added the second place B and D Industrial trophy to the many he has won at other shows with his eye-catching 1986 Dodge, while hometown entrant Mike Sommerville's gleaming black 1972 International with green and pink neon stripes placed third for the Auto Club trophy.

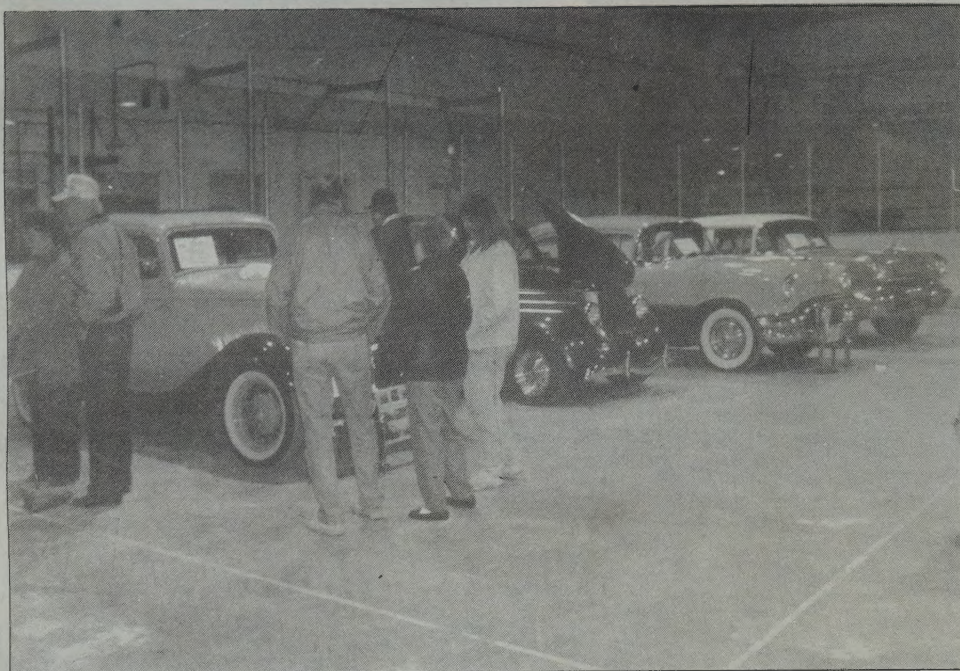

A Lloydminster entrant, L. A. Norquist, took top honors in the Modified class with his sparkly blue 1936 Ford 5-window coupe, which hides a big Chev 400 motor under its hood. He received the Northern Valley Store trophy. Gunther May's cherry toned '57 Chevy placed second for the Elk Point Burger Bar trophy, while Vergil Kuzz of Edmonton took the third place Auto Club trophy with his 1928 Model A Ford Tudor.

Cruising The Car Show

Aww, do you remember these? Nostalgia by the carload was evoked by the sight of the chrome decked beauties from the 'fifties and 'sixties, and older and newer models besides. Numerous visitors enjoyed the show and voted for their favorite vehicles.

Fundraising for Miracle Telethon

Elk Point Treasury Branch is joining the vast network of groups and individuals who want to help out the Northern Alberta Children's Hospital Foundation by raising funds for the Children's Miracle Network Telethon.

Whereas their counterparts across the street sold hot dogs as their fundraising effort, the Treasury Branch is going for an activity which will be fun for all...except for the bank manager. Mark Wilson is going to be the victim of any individual who wishes to plunk down $2 and receive a cream pie to throw at him.

If you have a beef with the bank manager, or just want to enjoy seeing him cringe when you take pie in hand, come on out and help the kids by taking part in this innovative activity.

And remember, Mark...it's all for a good cause!

In Our View

Rerun of a bygone era

As you have all heard, the castle-roofed MacDonald hotel in Edmonton has finally reopened its doors, after standing closed for a number of years — eight? nine? — and there has been much ado about the reopening.

One of the vocal heralders of the event has been the CBC radio. At one time, they say, they broadcasted their program from an upper storey suite in the Old Mac. So they have been asking listeners to write down and send them any reminiscences, stories of the old hotel and their recollections of it.

I didn't send mine to the CBC, and I'm sure it wouldn't have been read over the air had I done so. (Those so honored were also eligible to spend a day in the hotel!) (On a draw, I think).

Many moons ago, when I was a representative to the FUA (Farmers' Union of Alberta), the forerunner of Unifarm, I was selected — or perhaps volunteered — to attend the convention(s) held annually in the city of Edmonton. I went, first as a member of the FUA, a delegate, then later as a member of Unifarm, as a Woman of Unifarm, and lastly, as a director of that group. These conventions were held in the MacDonald hotel.

We were perennially short of funds, and most of us did our best to make ends meet by being thrifty. The first time I went, I was very aware of this, so to save dollars, I stayed in the Alberta Hotel, which was kitty-corner across the streets from the MacDonald. True, this hotel did not have a very good reputation, but I wasn't aware of that at the time. I just checked the cost, and it was cheaper. So I went there.

During the night I heard a few commotions out in the hall, but they didn't concern me, so I paid little heed. Later, my friends told me it was possibly the inebriated thrashing about out in the hall. My door was locked, I didn't worry.

The next event I recall regarding the famous hotel, was a very cold rainy — snowy night, with strong north winds, and my fellow delegates had their MacDonald room on the windward side of the building, about third storey up, and they were so cold, with the wind howling in around the crannies around the windows, that they had to call for maid-(or man) service to come and turn up the heat. This wasn't possible, so the attendants stuffed the window ledges with towels and hung blankets over them to keep down the chill.

Meanwhile, I had been cozy and warm in my low-brow Alberta Hotel across the street. But I was convinced, by the need especially to hang together with the gang, so we could discuss the happenings of the day's meeting in our off hours, that next time I did stay at the Mac. I found an old receipt in my "to throw out" search lately, and they charged me $8.50 for the room. I can't remember if it was a shared room, with another woman or if I was alone.

Another recollection of my sojourns there was the slowness of the elevators. Perhaps there were just not enough to handle the Convention crowd, but we seemed to spend an awful lot of time waiting for the elevators.

I had lots of ambition in those (early 60's) days, so I would walk up the stairs rather than wait for the elevators. Seldom would any of the other ladies walk, but often I would be waiting there in the hall, already done puffing, when they boiled out of the elevator. Laughing, of course, since I'd won.

The area where we held our 'big' meeting was one floor above street level, a nice wide stairs, and of course we walked up there. On one occasion, as the final meeting was ended, and all the ladies were heading down to a last lunch before we went home, I was a bit late, and went charging down the stairs, to almost run head-on into a large man about two steps below me, who laughed and swerved out of my path, just as I recognized him as Pierre Burton — famous author and speaker, even then. We learned he was heading for a meeting room, to address a literary ladies' group. I didn't hear him then, but at least he smiled at me.

On several occasions a number of we, Women of Unifarm Directors had lunch in the famous Wedgewood Room, which is indeed a lovely place, the walls all decorated (at that time) with Wedgewood-looking scenes, the chairs were padded and had arms on them, the white linen cloths on the many small tables hung to the floor, an all-together very lovely room, which we hear has all been restored, and refurbished and with such amenities as air-conditioners added. The food was always good.

I think there will be an interesting difference in prices, as they say the Royal Suite, where the Queen has slept, will run a mere $1,200 per night.

One of the delights of the place I recall, was when we walked down the stairs from our 3rd, 4th or whichever floor, was to stop in the landing, where a window looks south over the North Saskatchewan River, and its bridges and circles, layered above each other, and watch the car lights move through the night, especially when it was winter and the snow reflected the moving bands of light, twining and moving. The higher up, the more fairylike the effects. And our conventions used to be in November or early December. Always snow. Good luck, MacDonald! May your landmark linger long.

Thanks for taking care

Elk Point RCMP has reported that the 1991 F. G. Miller High School graduation went off without a hitch, with no accidents and no problems reported.

This was no doubt a great relief to parents and families who spent the night worrying about what was going on, and if everyone would make it home OK. In their excitement over having a grad in the family, they may have forgotten the 18 or so years of work that they and other parents have put in to making sure their offspring would survive such occasions.

We spend our lives as parents teaching our children to be careful and responsible human beings, who do the right thing and behave appropriately. Why is it that when such an occasion comes up, we have a tendency to think that we didn't teach them enough, or that they will forget everything we have so painstakingly taught them? We almost all do this. It's a common characteristic of the parents of teens.

However, once again, our dire predictions have been proved wrong. These very fine young people have conducted their graduation and its attendant celebrations, in a safe and relatively sane way. Could we have done any better at their age, given the conditions that exist today? Probably not.

Thanks, grads and friends of grads, for not giving us anything but great and happy memories of your special occasion to look back on. We knew you could do it. It's just that we suffer from parental paranoia from time to time. You'll see, when you have children, and you get it too.

Thanks for being careful out there.

Our Past

Steve Andrishak

The J.B. Caskey family came to our district in 1907 from the State of Iowa. Jesse, the head of the family homesteaded the quarter section of land immediately to the west of where Fred McAleese now makes his home. His son Oran, homesteaded the quarter section that Fred lives on. They farmed in that district for a number of years and also operated the Caskeyville post office out of their home at the same time. In 1916 Oran decided to try the hotel business in Elk Point. He built a two storey building on the lot that now houses the Beattie residence. This hotel contained a number of rooms upstairs and a kitchen and dining room downstairs. The following year Oran sold the hotel to his mother, Mrs. Frances "Ma" Caskey.

Mrs. Caskey supplied rooms and meals to the public at this location for a good many years. She was known far and wide for her delicious home cooked meals and her customers always came back. When the railroad arrived in 1927 she had the hotel moved from the east end to the main street location which now houses the Empress Restaurant. She remained in the hotel business until 1938 and then sold out to Stanley Cromwell. At that time it was known as the Pioneer Hotel. During the following years it changed hands many times and was used solely as an eating house. At one time it even housed the H.F. Martin bakery as well as a restaurant.

Mrs. Caskey retired in 1938 and remained in our village until her death in 1951. Without a doubt Mrs. Frances "Ma" Caskey was one of Elk Point's most colorful pioneers.

Another early hotel was the one operated by Hector Plant in the vicinity of where our United Church now stands. It supplied rooms to the travelling public as well as meals. It was destroyed by fire about 1923 and was never rebuilt.

Also about this time our first Chinese restaurant was in operation across the street (south) of where our tourist booth now stands. It was a large two storey building with the cafe on the ground floor and the owner's sleeping quarters on the second floor. It was owned and operated by Sam Lee. This cafe closed about 1926 and was later moved to a west location and used as a residence.

With the coming of the railroad in 1927, another hotel was built by a Waskatenau resident. Shortly after it was built it was sold to William Yakimec. It was called The Alberta Hotel and at a later date renamed The Elk Point Hotel. In 1937 Mr. Yakimec bought the Donald Hotel in St. Paul and his Elk Point hotel was rented out to Stan Cromwell who operated it until 1942, he then left Elk Point, and then operated another hotel.

During the early 1930's Raymond Keitges' old store building was moved from the old section Elk Point to the corner lot that now houses our present day Co-op Store. It was remodelled into a cafe and opened shortly after by Mah Suey. He operated this cafe for only a very short time and sold it to George and Joe Mah. Early cafes were constructed much differently than the cafes of today and this one was no different. It had a number of high walled private booths used for the serving of meals, and small orders were served from a high counter. The customer sat on a high revolving, unpadded stool. There was nothing fancy about the early country restaurants and no one seemed to complain, all they wanted was a good meal.

When the Mah's purchased this restaurant, the depression was at its peak and they had a difficult time showing a profit. Money was scarce and many were unemployed, however, some how or other Joe got over the rough times and remained in our district for many years.

The following information was derived from a Joe Mah restaurant menu printed in 1933. The highest priced meal on this menu was a T-Bone steak priced at .55 cents, with a bowl of soup, bread and butter, coffee and desert supplied at no extra cost. If you thought this was too much you could order hamburger steak and onions for .30 cents, also with your soup, coffee and desert thrown in. Your breakfast choice of bacon and eggs or ham and eggs came to .35 cents and it also included your toast and jam as well as your coffee. Coffee and tea was .5 cents a cup and milk .5 cents a glass. Separately your bowl of soup was .20 cents however you had to pay an extra .5 cents for bread and butter, a large double scoop of ice cream in either a cone or dish was listed at .10 cents, to further reduce the price of your meals you could buy a $6.50 meal ticket in advance for $5.75.

These meal prices looked attractive however they were not. The average person was lucky to make $1.00 a day wages in 1933. Farm laborers were paid .50 cents per day, working long hours, usually their room and board was thrown in. During the winter months many laborers worked for their room and board. In most cases their supply of tobacco was provided free by the farmer he worked for.

Elks, OORP celebrate three decades

Schuhmacher commended the lodges on 30 years of service to their community, province and country, where they have improved the quality of life for those less fortunate, and have earned the plaudit, "Well done, thou good and faithful servants." She commended the charter members on giving those who followed the opportunity to belong to the lodges, and said that the District Meetings show the huge amount of work done by each lodge. With similar work in lodges across the country, she feels this makes "a major impact." Mrs. Schuhmacher reminisced that when she joined Elk Point OORP 23 years ago, the hall was in place, but without today's conveniences. She remembered scrubbing floors and tables, cooking at home to cater for events, an unnamed drill team leader who danced on the table and "dedicated Elks who felt they should guard the hall all night." "We worked hard, we played hard, and had fun doing both. I'm proud to be a member."

Provincial Elks President Bill Johnson felt it was "an honor to be with people such as these lodges. I know these people work for their community. It's hard work, great work and a lot of fun." Johnson congratulated both lodges on their anniversaries, and said they should "be proud of what you have done for your community, and for all of the children."

Supreme Chaplain Lady Elaine Hennell said the lodges "deserve great praise. I don't think you realize what you've got here—some Elks lodges don't know their OORP exists." Mrs. Hennell said she has had to pick up charters from two OORP lodges that have closed this year, and "It was the hardest thing I've ever done. Promise me that I won't get sent here to do that." The anniversary was and "a real lift," to see lodges thriving, she said.

Albert Boratyne brought greetings from MLA John Drobot, and although he claimed not to be "the poet philosopher John is," left his audience contemplating a poem entitled "Thinking." He presented a plaque from the MLA, thanking the lodges for 30 years of community service.

John Zenko brought greetings from the County of St. Paul, in the form of a plaque, and expressed "sincere appreciation for your hours of service to community betterment."

Mayor Bruce Kleeberger said "All communities rely on volunteers to ensure that social programs and facilities will be available. In Elk Point, these programs are operated, and facilities owned by volunteer groups. If it weren't for volunteers, the programs wouldn't occur." He presented a plaque from the Town, and congratulated the Elks and OORP for being "in the forefront of volunteerism" for 30 years.

Bill Bepalko and Mary Bochon gave rundowns on the history of the two lodges, well sprinkled with anecdotes about the early days, when 20 Elks signed a note for $10,000 to get a bank loan to build the hall, and when funds for projects were earned by the OORP in many innovative ways, from auctioning off the Elks as slaves, to selling lunches at Elks dances. "Now all we do is show up for scheduled work," Mrs. Bochon concluded. "We owe all this to past and present Exalted Rulers and Honored Royal Ladies, and to past and present members. We still have very active lodges."

Thirty year pins were presented to six OORP charter members who are still part of the lodge: Niki Riemer, Helga Vaughan, Mary Bochon, Mary Kryvenchuk, Kay Rylance and Eleanora Bjornstad, and to seven Elks charter members: Fred Kryvenchuk, Bro. Rylance, Phil Sheplawy, Nick Bochon, Elmer Bjornstad, Steve Ewoniak and Ron Barwick.

Greetings and presentations were given by Jim Wheeler of Lloydminster BPOE, Jim Howland, Mannville BPOE, Roger MacMillan, Myrnam BPOE and Joe Yakimec, St. Paul BPOE.

Thirty Year OORP Members

Six Charter members of the Elk Point Order of Royal Purple were presented with 30 year pins at the Lodge's 30th Anniversary Saturday evening. District Deputy Alvina Schuhmacher (left) presented the pins to Helga Vaughan, Niki Riemer, Mary Bochon, Eleanora Bjornstad, Mary Kryvenchuk and Kay Rylance.

Thirty Years of Elkdom

First Honored Royal Lady

Open door policy for Library board

Town Council has agreed to adopt an 'open door' policy for Elk Point Public Library Board, allowing both town and County residents to become part of the Board.

Perennial shortages of members have plagued the Board for some time, but it was an unwritten policy that only one member on the Board could come from the County. A study of the Provincial Libraries Act showed no mention of regulations to that effect, and perusal of Town minutes showed no recorded policy preventing rural membership.

Following discussion of possible ramifications of having out-of-town members on the Board, Council voted unanimously to open the door to rural as well as town members, with Council to continue the policy of ratifying each application, as has been done in the past.

Library Board Chairperson Faye Smith was very pleased with Council's decision, and feels that this may encourage new members to join the Board and take part in the interesting decision making involved in making the library a vital part of the community.

Environment Tip

An interesting idea for chemical-free weed reduction in your garden has been found in Harrowsmith magazine. They suggest that tilling your garden in the dark may keep weeds down...and keep your neighbors guessing.

Studies have shown that even brief exposure to light during tilling will encourage weed seeds to germinate. One study showed that a plot containing weed seeds which was stirred for 90 seconds in bright light grew 60 per cent more weed seedlings than an adjacent unstirred plot. Gardens tilled in minimum light conditions resulted in forty times less weeds than those tilled at midday.

Botanists in Germany have devised a strategy to prevent light reaching weed seeds: either till at night using the light of the moon or cover your rototiller with black plastic. Even vehicle lights or flashlights can increase germination, and any exposure to light should be kept under five seconds. The article also cautions you not to bump into things. (And watch out for the vegetables, too!)

Lots of Lettuce!

Diane Frankiw expressed sincere thanks to Sharon Smith of Dave's Pizza, who donated all the produce used for the fine meal at the Playground Fund's Fashion Show recently.

Provincial Elks Donate

Elk Point BPO Elks recently presented $1000 toward the community playground, and this was later matched by another $1000 cheque from the Provincial Elks Association, here presented to Darlene Kozicky by Exalted Ruler Brian Schnurer.

Provincial grant to improve our water supply

EDMONTON - A provincial grant of $75,000 for upgrading the raw water supply system for the Town of Elk Point was announced today by Ken Kowalski, Interim Minister of Alberta Transportation and Utilities, on behalf of the Honorable Al "Boomer" Adair and St. Paul MLA John Drobot.

Mr. Kowalski said: "This assistance from the Alberta Municipal Water Supply and Sewage Treatment Grant Program will cover 50 percent of the total cost of installing a raw water supply line from the North Saskatchewan River to Elk Point."

Mr. Drobot added: "This grant from Transportation and Utilities is a significant help to Elk Point. Previously, the town was required to pump water from Atimoswe Creek to the raw water reservoir. The new supply line will ensure a secure supply of water, which will benefit the townspeople of Elk Point."

Students Explore History First Hand

Grade 9 Alberta and Local History students visited the Frog Lake Historic Site as part of their study of the Northwest Rebellion of 1885.

Safety Is Their Goal

Industrial Arts teacher Blaine Easthope was pleased to welcome Amoco's Ron Johnson and Glen Reinhardt with their "Adopt A School" safety program.

Safety promoted for young workers

A program aimed at making the working world safer for young workers was introduced to Grade 10, 11 and 12 students at F. G. Miller High School last Wednesday. Glen Reinhardt, District Safety Advisor out of Amoco Canada's Lloydminster head office, and Ron Johnson, head of Elk Point's Amoco operations, gave an overview of the 'Adopt A School' Program to the students.

The program is operated by Amoco and Occupational Health and Safety under the direction of Bob McNaughton, Department Area Advisor, Vermilion, and endeavors to reduce the number of young workers who are injured in the workplace.

Reinhardt said that one in five young adults aged 15 to 24 is injured on the job.

Students who take part in the program leave the facility with more knowledge of health and safety procedures, and are better prepared to enter the work force. They also have an opportunity to take advantage of skilled safety professionals as resource persons.

Local history studied at first hand

On Wednesday, May 15 the Grade 9 Alberta and Local History class visited the Frog Lake Historic Site. After researching the topic in the classroom, the students had the opportunity to piece together the events of that fateful day, April 2, 1885. The students were able to find markers associated with the rebellion.

Mrs. Mabel Dumont accompanied the students and was able to fill in information "not found in the history books". She knew the only white male survivor, William Cameron. Her husband and her homesteaded about a half mile south of the site.

Before returning to the school, there was a few minutes devoted to inspecting the new Fort George Visitor Interpretive Centre presently under construction.

Special thanks to Mabel Dumont and Sheri Pelech for their assistance.

Elk Point Ag. Society hosts riding clinics

Over the past year and a half the Vermilion College has offered the Canadian Equestrian Federation Western Rider Preparation Clinics, which have been met with great interest and enthusiasm by the riding public. On June 1 & 2, the Elk Point Ag. Society will host its first CEF Basic Riding Clinic at the Fairgrounds north of town.

The Western Rider Program was designed by the CEF to teach nationally approved methods of caring for, handling, and riding the Western Horse. It is currently made up of Level I, for Beginner riders and Basic Horsemanship skills, consisting of Rider 1-4, and Level II for Intermediate Riders starting to compete, Riders 5-8. There is a standardized manual outlining the progression of skills required for each Rider Level and an examination by a Certified CEF Coach gives the student a diploma and certification at each Rider Level.

The Clinic on June 1 & 2 will involve Level I, Rider I and II, consisting of basic care of the horse, safe ground handling, equipment and grooming, gaits and transitions, leads, basic position, rein and leg aids, diagonals, proper stop and back-up. The clinic has been set up with time for practical, theory, demonstrations and basic riding skills. The cost has been deliberately kept low at $60 and only a maximum of 8 students will be registered to ensure maximum teaching time and some individual instruction. The experience of students at these clinics range from people with little experience and confidence to those with over 15 years of riding experience.

Horsemanship and riding should be fun, but, it is only fun when there is an element of control and safety. The CEF Prep Program is an excellent introduction to safe basic horsemanship skills for any beginner rider and horseowner or any experienced rider wanting CEF certification.

During the month of June there are also some group lessons being offered following the CEF Rider program and the clinic format. These lessons will be in the evening during the week. A later date will be set for testing the various levels if numbers warrant.

Also on the June agenda, at the Fairgrounds, on the 15 & 16, there will be a reining clinic taught by John Picary, from Marwayne. This clinic will focus on the reining horse discipline, teaching flexibility, easier reining and control with speed, spins and sliding stops. Students in this clinic should have some prior background clinics covering the basic so as to get the full potential of the course. The cost of the clinic will be $60 and only a maximum of 12 students will be registered.

For any more information on these or other clinics, or testing dates, please call 724-2560 or 724-2423.

What's news at the library?

We have been busy the last couple of weeks getting ready for an inventory of all our materials. Our volunteers are all geared up to come in and lend a hand with this big job.

Watch for our used book sale of the material that has been discarded.

Doreen Mayner, Librarian and Diane Fraess, Assistant Librarian visited the grade one and grade two classes as part of the schools reading program. Wrinkles the puppet accompanied them. The students were an appreciative audience.

Mrs. Bilak's kindergarten class visited the library for a tour on Thursday afternoon. They enjoyed the stories and puppets. Last week we entertained Mrs. Richard's two kindergarten classes as well. The staff welcomes all classroom visits to the library.

New Books:

"Photographing Waterfowl: Techniques for the Advanced Amateur and Professional" - The author Kit Breem discusses where and how to find your subject, how to make good use of your local area as well as "ducking hot spots" across North America, camouflage and blinds, the effect of the weather, time of day or night, the seasons, and migration patterns.

"In A Strangeland: A pictorial record of the Chinese in Canada 1788-1923 by Richard Wright" - With over 100 illustrations, including archival photographs, contemporary paintings, cartoons, this book is the first pictorial history of the Chinese in Canada.

"Training for Victory: The British Commonwealth Air Training Plan in the West" by Peter Conrad - In Canada, news of the second World War crackled across radios between renditions of the swing band of Glenn Miller and the soothing songs of Vera Lynn. For many in the three prairie provinces, whose experience are highlighted in this book, the war effort was as close as the local air training stations.

Prior to the 1980's, no Canadian bank had failed since 1922, and in the 1970's only two small trust companies collapsed. Since 1980 more than two dozen financial institutions have gone under, taking with them savings or ordinary Canadians from Victoria to St. John's. "Short Changed: Victims of the Canadian Financial Crisis" tells who they were and how it happened.

Three new music cassettes in the music section are: "Seventh Son of a Seventh Son" by Iron Maiden; "Wake Me When It's Over" by Faster Pussycat and "Stick It To Ya" by Slaughter.

Also in the video collection we have two donated exercise videos, "Kathy Smith's Fat Burning Workout" - the most effective program ever for burning fat and losing weight! and "Jane Fonda's Pregnancy, Birth, and Recovery Workout" - this workout is designed to help women live as gracefully as to all 4-H members and leaders -- You have successfully completed another rewarding year of 'Learning To Do By Doing'. Best of Luck to All from the Elk Point and District Agricultural Society.

Proof in the playing

Elk Point's Elementary School and Community Playground is well on its way to completion, after a weekend bee during which a huge crowd of volunteers turned out to assemble and install the components of three large play structures.

The structures, which combine wood with bright colored plastics to present an eye catching appearance, are geared at various age groups. The Grade 4 to 6 area is shown at left, and has rings to swing on, horizontal ladders and other exciting features. The Grade 2 and 3 area, below, features a corkscrew shaped slide, a balance beam and climbing platforms. The third structure is geared to the kindergarten and Grade 1 students, and has a tunnel to climb through and other activities suitable for the youngest playground users.

All three were busy from the moment the construction crews had completed their work, and will no doubt be the most active place in town for the next few weeks as students enjoy the new facilities to the fullest.

Saddle Slickers meets

Jaylene Purdy
Club Reporter

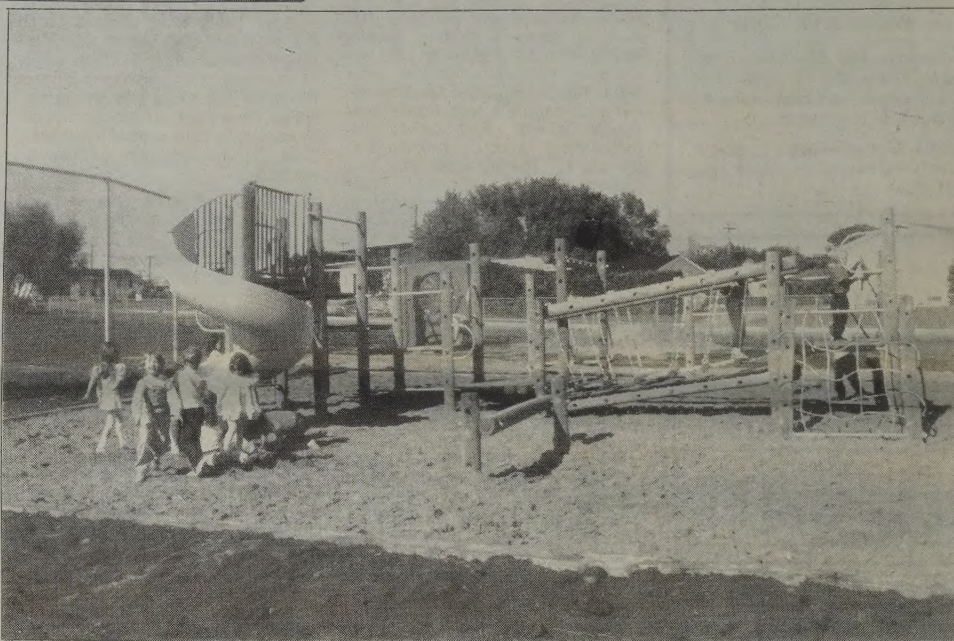

Since the warm weather has arrived, the Elk Point Saddle Slickers have been attending riding meetings and getting our horses examined. On Friday, April 5th, we met at Sharon Borytenac's. During this meeting Charlene Baker demonstrated how to give inoculations for sleeping sickness and tetanus and how to worm our horses.

On April 7th we met at Charlene Baker's in order that Tod Williams from Cardston, an equine dental technician, could float our horse's teeth. During the dental clinic Tod explained and showed the 4-H members various skulls and teeth of horses.

On May 5th we had a riding meeting at the Agriculture Grounds in Elk Point. We learned about grooming, bridling and proper riding procedures.

On May 20th we had our last riding meeting. During this meeting we reviewed the parts of the horse, how to saddle and bridle them, how to catch and tie them, how to mount and dismount, showmanship, and western pleasure. Our meeting concluded with a game wherein members on horseback had to answer questions in a relay race. The next riding meeting will be held at the Agriculture Grounds on Sunday, May 27. Our 4-H Achievement Day is scheduled for July 5.

Peewee girls fastball underway

The Elk Point Pee Wee Girls Fastball Team, sponsored by the Empress Restaurant of Elk Point, are off and running, literally, in this new ball season.

There are 13 hard playing girls on our team and we have already played five league games.

The first two were a double-header against Pierceland on Saturday, May 11. We took a loss in both games but came close in the second. Our backcatcher, Lindsay, was injured in the 4th inning and this left us with only 9 players in the game.

The next game was in Cold Lake on May 16. Our team stood up under some heavy spectator razzing and came within 7 runs. Lindsay was back in the line-up for this game.

Wednesday, May 22, saw Grand Centre in Elk Point. A number of spectators came to watch us play and we didn't disappoint them. We won by 13 runs. The following day we travelled to Bonnyville. We were up by 8 runs when they came up for last bat. We held on to win by 1.

Our next home games are May 27 against Bonnyville and June 10 against Cold Lake. We play at the North Hill Diamond which is just up from the arena. Our games start at 6:30 and end just after 8:00 so do try and come out and cheer us on.
